College Club marks 60th anniversary

The Women's College Club of Princeton is celebrating its 60th anniversary this year with an active program.

At the September meeting members and their guests were addressed by Anne C. Martindale, senator for the 14th District of New Jersey, who spoke on "Vital Signs in Government." Nathaniel Burt, the Princeton author of the new book, "The History of American Art Museums", will be guest speaker at the October meeting.

Founded in 1916, the College Club is an organization of women college graduates who live in the Princeton area and nearby communities. The club meets on the third Monday of each month at All Saints Church.

In addition to the monthly meetings members are invited to participate in as many special interest groups as they care to join. Among these are art, bridge, current book review, French conversation and reading, handicrafts, Tuesday study group and a new group, the Evening potpourri.

The Tuesday Study Group has chosen for its October subjects Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn and Lady Murasaki. The book review group will meet Sept. 25 with Mrs. Robert Rock, assistant director of the Princeton Library, who will review several books suggested by the bicentennial. The art group will visit the Bernard Barenholz Toy and Folk Museum in October.

The Women's College Club sponsors scholarship awards and in 1970 the club established the Memorial Educational Loan Fund. Mrs. Richard S. Crandall is club president and Mrs. Richard Cobb is chairman of the Membership Committee.

'Adam Influence' topic of College Clubwomen

Sibyl Groff will be the guest speaker at the evening meeting of the Women's College Club of Princeton on Monday, April 5, at 8 p.m. at All Saints' Church. Her subject will be "The Adam Influence on the Architecture and Decorative Arts of the British Isles and America."

Robert Adams and his brothers widely influenced the architecture and the decorative arts of the late 18th century and their influence was greatly felt in the Federal Period in the U.S.A. Mrs. Groff will show slides of houses and interiors in Scotland, England and the U.S. to illustrate her talk.

Sibyl Groff became interested in historic preservation while living in London. Her interest in this subject resulted in her book, "New Jersey's Historic Houses ... A Guide To Homes Open To The Public."

A graduate of the Emma Willard School and Wells College, she has done graduate work in preservation and restoration at Columbia University's School of Architecture and is a treasurer of the Attingham School in England which offers a three week program of concentrated study of stately homes of England. She is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Princeton Historical Society.

Applications ready for College Club awards

The Women's College Club of Princeton is now accepting applications for their annual scholarship awards. Information and application forms will be available Feb 1, at the guidance office of all four Princeton high schools: Hun School, Princeton Day School, Princeton High School and Stuart School. Applications are to be completed by March 15 (PDS by March 1).

Applicants for the awards must be senior girls who have attended Princeton schools for at least two years, have applied to (and subsequently registered at) an accredited 4-year American college or university, have taken the College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test or the American College Test and have completed the Princeton Scholarship Program Confidential Financial Statement.

The College Club awarded a total of $3,600 in 1976. The four President's Prizes, $25 each, were awarded to the top ranking girl in each of the secondary schools in Princeton. $3,500 in scholarship awards were presented to eight area scholars.

Money for these awards comes from club dues, donations and the annual Dessert Card Party and White Elephant Sale, to be held this year on Monday, March 7.

The club also maintains an interest-free Memorial Education Loan Fund to enable girls who have completed their freshman year to continue in college. Mary Turnbull is chairman of this fund. Serving on the Scholarship Committee this year are Dell Stifel, Anne Cobb, Lillian Greenberg and Martha Hartman, chairman.
